

Welcome! I'm an enthusiastic developer and computer science student passionate about machine learning, low-level programming, and open-source software. As a research assistant, I'm committed to pushing the boundaries of technology.